Omahans to Vote On OU Levy Tues.

Student Volunteers to Distribute Papers Door-to-Door Sunday in 'Last Project'

by Dick Smith

Don Pflasterer, dean of student personnel, said the plans for the mill levy election Tuesday are coming along according to schedule.

Pflasterer noted that the last big project before the election is the door-to-door distribution of the special edition of the GATEWAY.

It will be distributed Sunday, April 21. Pflasterer said that after the distribution all students who participated are invited to the Student Center for refreshments between 4 and 6 p.m.

The day of the election all polling places will be manned by University student volunteers who will hand out cards asking for a YES vote in the election.

Dean Pflasterer said "this will be the first Omaha election that will be counted by the IBM process." Any students that are interested in seeing how this works are invited to the election headquarters in the Civic Auditorium after 8 p.m. Tuesday evening.

'50-50 Chance'

In a pre-election sampling Pflasterer said "we have a 50-50 chance. In some areas people are all for us, in others they are all against us." He added that during the first door to door canvass the students were well-received and reports show that out of the 30 to 40 persons contacted by each student only 8 to 10 were not interested in finding out more on the election.

"We did find that South Omaha was the least informed area" said Pflasterer "but now they are for us in large percentages."

In other activities around campus, Dean Pflasterer noted that members of the athletic teams, the Indians, the OU band and the intramural teams distributed 2000 campaign signs to all persons entering and leaving the campus on Tuesday. He said that the Alumni Association has contacted about 5000 persons by telephone asking for a "YES" vote in the election.

Ride to Polls

As a further incentive to get the voters out, Pflasterer said, students will make available transportation to any persons needing it to and from the polling places. The cars involved in the transportation will be radio dispatched and a call to the university will bring a car to the individuals home the day of the election.

In a final comment Pflasterer said "all of the work on the campaign, with the exception of the printing of the pamphlets, has been voluntary on the part of the students."

Editorial Comment

By MARY BETH MEYERS

We're heading into the last lap of an up hill race. After Sunday afternoon the students' job will be over—as far as organized campaigning is concerned.

The student drive of April 3 was tagged a tremendous success by everyone on the faculty. President Milo Bail was extremely pleased by the aftermath of favorable comments he has heard from residents the students contacted that night.

About 1,000 students participated in the first house-to-house canvass and even more are needed Sunday to cover EVERY house in the city. At this time the special issue of the GATEWAY will be distributed.

Tuesday the OU athletes distributed signs to motorists traveling through the campus. The signs were mounted on stakes so they could be planted in student's yards throughout the city.

The Student Council has arranged to have free baby sitters available to any voters who call in asking for the service. They have also scheduled several cars to be stationed around the city to pick up voters who have no way of getting to the polls.

The Alumni Office under the direction of Mrs. Betty Davis has been carrying on an extensive telephone campaign. They have mailed pounds of literature to alums all over Omaha—informing them about OU's present position.

General Printing and Information, the little office tucked away on the first floor of the administration building, has had its hands full answering questions, mailing literature, arranging for members of the Speakers Bureau to attend meetings around town, publicizing the noteworthy activities of the University, etc.

Early Tuesday morning the Physical Plant department put up the big sign in front of the Administration Building.

(The GATEWAY staff put together a special edition—in two colors no less!)

So you see—many people have kept busy the last few months working on putting this election in the winners' circle.

Again the plea goes out to the students. You proved April 3 that you are the best Public Relations media the University has. When you are contacted, or if you already have been notified concerning Sunday's "Students' March for Winning Mill Levy Elections," remember you and only you have been assigned that particular area.

If you slack off and fail to cover your neighborhood we might lose someone's YES vote. Multiply this one vote in your area by hundreds of areas. One vote IS important.

Finish the job you started April 3—get out here Sunday afternoon at 1:30 and help push OU over the top!

Bring No Pen Election Day, It Won't Work

Voters can leave their ball point pens and old pencil stubs at home when they go to the polls Tuesday in the Omaha University mill levy election.

Douglas County Election Commissioner Jerry Hassett this week explained the new system of electronic vote counting to the 278 election inspectors who'll be in charge of each polling place.

Voters are to mark their ballots either "yes" or "no" with special electrographic pencils.

The card-ballots are not to be folded or they won't pass through the electronic counting machines. To conceal the front of the ballot, the voter will place his card into the ballot box face down.

In the past the ballots were folded and a poll judge placed them in the box.

All ballots cast before 3:30 p.m. will be taken to the electronic counting area at the Civic Auditorium, Hassett said.

However, they won't be run through the counting machine until after the polls close at 8 p.m.

Hassett is sticking with his estimate that "about 40-thousand" Omahans will turn out for the special election.

Using the electronic data processing machines, which can count ballots at 800 per minute, "all the ballots should be counted by midnight," he said.

'Bring Back Bow; No Questions Asked'

Who stole the bow?

A bow being used in a display on the second floor of the Administration Building has mysteriously disappeared.

It was Stan Winslow's $70 personal hunting bow.

According to Donald Pflasterer, dean of student personnel, the last time anyone saw the bow was Thursday, April 11.

When the bow is returned, "no questions will be asked," according to Pflasterer.

The bow was being used to advertise the upcoming intramural Archery Safari, April 26.

ATTENTION!

Students are invited to be on hand Tuesday night at the Exhibition Hall of the Civic Auditorium to watch the "brain" tabulate votes. A running tabulation will be projected on a large screen as the precincts report in.

Heritage Series Hosts Economist, Business Director

The speaker for next Wednesday night's American Heritage program will be George W. Crabtree, who is presently vice-president in charge of operations for the Campbell Soup Co.

Mr. Crabtree, the third speaker in this series, will speak on business.

Prior to his association with Campbell Soup, Mr. Crabtree worked in an executive capacity for the Crown Cork and Seal Co., and Continental Can Corp.

During World War II, Mr. Crabtree was selected by Continental Can to build, organize, and run a plant making aircraft parts in Jersey City, N. J. Mr. Crabtree had the plant completed and in working order in nine months' time following Pearl Harbor.

Mr. Crabtree is a member of the Board of Governors of the Can Manufacturers Institute, and a director of American Competitive Enterprise System.

This week's speaker was Dr. John R. Coleman, dean of the division of humanities and social sciences and professor and head of the economics dept. at Carnegie Institute of Technology. Dr. Coleman at present is conducting "The American Economy" classroom series on CBS television, carried five days a week at 7:00 a.m. on 240 stations across the country.

More Volunteers Needed to Phone

Ten telephones have been installed in the Student Organizations Room at the Student Center for the purpose of conducting a telephone campaign for the Omaha University Mill Levy election.

In order to get the most out of the campaign all phones must be in use constantly. However, they are not being used to full capacity, and there are still some 4,000 alums to be contacted.

Volunteers are needed. Any one who has a spare hour or more is asked to report to the office at any time. It is not necessary to be scheduled as the phones are not all in use.

The campaign will continue through April 22nd and will also be conducted on week-ends. Students are needed if this is to be successful. Any students who have volunteered for calling please do not forget to report. They are asked not to forget to report.

Official Notice

Maie Day, special student holiday, will be held May 10. Float themes and designs are due in the office of the Dean of Student Personnel, Friday, April 19. This year's overall theme is "That Wonderful Year." Any campus organization may build a float.

All students planning to student teach in secondary schools for the '63 Fall semester must meet in room 208 of the Administration Building at 3:30 p.m., May 6.

Mr. James Taggart's piano recital for Sunday has been rescheduled for May 19, 7:30 p.m. at the S. C. Ballroom.

The University of Omaha student chapter of the Music Educators National Conference will hold a monthly meeting April 22 in the OU Cafeteria in alcoves A and B.

Mr. Welch, orchestra director for district 66 schools, will speak to the MENC about strings in the Elementary and Secondary Schools. New officers will be elected at the meeting.

Summer Semester Emphasis in Bulletin

Increased emphasis on the summer semester is a feature of the College of Adult Education summer bulletin.

According to Dr. Donald Z. Woods, many students do not realize they are able to earn 12 or more credit hours through the summer semester.

"Two summer sessions would be the equivalent of moving up a year in school. We do not recommend finishing in three years to all students, but many are able to get through in that time and should try," he said.

In discussing the increasing popularity of summer sessions throughout the country, Dr. Woods cited several reasons. "Many people want to catch up on their education, others want to equip themselves more rapidly for career opportunities that will be theirs with acquired knowledge and somewhat to keep themselves up to date."

The first summer session is June 10 to July 13. A total of 114 courses ranging from art to teacher education are offered. In addition, graduate studies in biology, chemistry, economics, English, history, philosophy and religion, physical education, political science, psychology and teacher education will be featured.

The bulletins plus additional information regarding summer courses may be obtained in Room 182, Adm.

Regent Examination Given H.S. Students

On April 11 the Regent's Scholarship Examinations were given in the Library from 8:30 to 4:30. Tests were given all day to the 231 high school students who participated. Students taking the tests were selected by their school principals and were in the upper 1/4 of their class.

NOW YOU CAN BE YOUNGER THAN SHE IS

It is a scientific fact that girls reach emotional maturity earlier than boys. For this reason freshman girls are reluctant to make romantic alliances with freshman boys, but instead choose men from the upper classes.

Thus the freshman boys are left dateless, and many is the night the entire freshman dorm sobs itself to sleep. An equally moist situation exists among upper-class girls. With upper-class men being snapped up by freshman girls, the poor ladies of the upper class are reduced to dreary, manless evenings of Monopoly and home permanents.

It pleases me to report there is a solution for this morbid situation—indeed, a very simple solution. Why don't the two great have-not groups—the freshman boys and the upper-class girls—find solace with each other?

True, there is something of an age differential, but that need not matter. Take, for example, the case of Albert Payson Sigafos and Eustacia Vye.

Albert Payson, a freshman in sand and gravel at Vanderbilt University, was walking across the campus one day, weeping softly in his loneliness. Blinded by tears, he stumbled upon

We could build a snowman...

The supine form of Eustacia Vye, a senior in wicker and raffia, who was collapsed in a wretched heap on the turf.

"Why don't you watch where you're going, you minor youth?" said Eustacia peevishly.

"I'm sorry, lady," said Albert Payson and started to move on. But suddenly he stopped, struck by an inspiration. "Lady," he said, tugging his forelock, "don't think me forward, but I know why you're miserable. It's because you can't get a date. Well, neither can I. So why don't we date each other?"

"Surely you jest!" cried Eustacia, looking with scorn upon his tiny head and body.

"Oh, I know I'm younger than you are," said Albert Payson, "but that doesn't mean we can't find lots of fun things to do together."

"Like what?" she asked.

"Well," said Albert Payson, "we could build a snowman."

"Bah!" said Eustacia, grinding her teeth.

"All right then," said Albert Payson, "we could go down to the pond and catch some frogs."

"Ugh!" said Eustacia, shuddering her entire length.

"How about some Run-Sheep-Run?" suggested Albert Payson. "You are callow, green, and immature," said Eustacia, "and I will thank you to remove your underaged presence from mine eyes."

Sighing, Albert Payson lighted a cigarette and started away.

"Stay!" cried Eustacia.

He stayed.

"Was that a Marlboro Cigarette you just lighted?" she asked.

"What else?" said Albert Payson.

"Then you are not immature!" she exclaimed, clasping him to her clavicle. "For to smoke Marlboros is the very essence of wisdom, the height of American know-how, the incontrovertible proof that you can tell gold from dross, right from wrong, fine aged tobaccos from pale, pathetic substitutes. Albert Payson, if you will still have me, I am yours!"

"I will," he said, and did, and today they are married and run the second biggest wicker and raffia establishment in Duluth, Minnesota.

Freshman, sophomore, junior, senior—all classes, ages, types, and conditions—will enjoy mild, rich, filter-tipped Marlboro—available in pack or box in every one of our fifty states.

Gail Grove Is Only Newswoman At Any of Omaha's 3 Stations

by Paul Beavers

When 95-pound Gail Grove slips her trim figure behind a typewriter to write a story for a KETV newscast, "it better be good."

The 21-year-old OU senior is the only woman working in an Omaha television newsroom as a writer.

When Gail (her friends sometimes call her "Grover") was hired about two years ago, "the news director told me he could never send me out on a murder story with a clear conscience because I might get mugged or something. I'd be a little squeamish, but I'd sure like to go."

Crime Story

Gail's never had to cover a crime story because she spends her working hours on the rewrite desk knocking out 10 to 15 stories a night.

Part of her job is fielding many of the telephone calls that flow into the Channel 7 newsroom.

"The callers always think I'm receptionist or something and never want to talk to a girl. They always want to talk to the guys. They just don't seem to believe there's any such thing as a news WOMAN."

"And when I have to call the police station for information on a story, the policemen sometimes think I'm a phony. They usually give me the story though—after a little arguing."

Writing Is Exciting

"Newswriting is exciting," she said, "but sometimes it isn't fun."

On the night of January 7, 1962, Gail learned there had been an auto accident on South 72nd Street. A girl had been killed.

Gail was told to get the victim's name.

"It was Kathy Planteen. She was a student at OU and an acquaintance of mine. I guess a little, but I wrote the story—one of the hardest stories I've ever written."

Gail prides herself in striving for accuracy, "but a couple of times I've made errors that were pure stupidity on my part."

"In a story about a labor dispute, I wrote that it was a 'strike'. I heard about it—but good—from some of the union leaders in town."

South Omaha

"Another time I wrote a 'South Omaha bar' had been robbed. But it turned out the bar in question wasn't quite far enough south and the owner called to complain that news stories say-

Gail . . . was told that "anytime a woman can worm her way into a man's field she should work like a dog and fight to stay there."

ing his bar was in South Omaha would hurt business."

The one big story Gail's covered was the recent $50-a-plate testimonial dinner for U. S. Senator Roman Hruska.

"I talked the boss (News Director Lee Terry) into letting me go," she said. "It was exciting."

"It was the only $50 dinner I've ever had and I'm glad I didn't have to pay for it."

Woman in Man's Field

Being a woman in predominantly a man's field doesn't discourage the blue-eyed coed.

"I always remember that a friend of mine (a woman) once told me that 'anytime a woman can worm her way into a man's field she should work like a dog and fight to stay there.'"

Her 23-year-old brother, Russell (OU '62) is a reporter for a competing station—WOW-TV.

"Russ thinks it's fine for a girl to be in the TV news business, but I sometimes wish we weren't on opposing sides."

Working 6 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. five nights a week, plus classes and homework, "doesn't leave much time for social life—except that which starts after 10:30," she said.

Gail is carrying a 16-hour

BS degree in journalism in June.

"After that," she said, "I hope to become a full-time reporter at KETV."

She was president of her sorority, Zeta Tau Alpha, this past year and editor of the Gateway during the fall semester of 1961.

She's president of the Omaha U Press Club and a member of Waokiya, a senior women's honorary which requires a three-load at OU with the goal of a point accumulative grade average.

Tomahawk to Be Distributed May 10

The 1963 edition of the Tomahawk, OU yearbook, is to be distributed the second week of May, according to Paul V. Peterson, head of the journalism department.

Peterson, Jane Andersen, Tomahawk art adviser; Malanie Jeub, 1963 editor; and Marilou Thibault, 1964 editor, returned this week from San Angelo, Tex., where they spent five days proofreading copy.

News Foto Publishing Co. of San Angelo plans to ship 3500 copies of the 1963 Tomahawk to the OU campus by May 10.

Capt., Betty Davis on Way To Turkey Via Washington

Captain and Betty Davis . . . for the next three years they plan to live like Turks.

by Marilyn Higgs

Two faculty members and friends of everyone at Omaha University will soon be on their way to a new country. Both students and faculty will miss Captain Joseph M. and Betty Davis when they leave for Turkey.

The Davises are leaving Omaha by May 10 for Washington, D.C., where they will attend a training school for three months in preparation for a three year assignment in Turkey.

They will leave Washington, D.C., near the end of August and report in Ankara, Turkey, about the 1st of October where Captain Davis will be assigned to the Office of the Air Attaché at the American Embassy.

Mrs. Davis said that she is especially looking forward to visiting Washington, D.C., where she intends to take some language courses at Georgetown University.

Both Captain and Mrs. Davis have traveled quite extensively but not together. This will be their first foreign assignment since their marriage two and a half years ago.

Mrs. Davis said they had requested foreign assignment in Western Europe "but when we got the opportunity to go to Turkey we were thrilled because people don't often get to the Middle East."

After Captain Davis graduated from high school he became a major league baseball player and traveled all over the United States with the St. Louis Cardinals. He had one year of college at Idaho State and then joined the Air Force. Afterwards he returned and finished school and received his bachelor's degree from Marietta College in Marietta, Idaho. Before his present assignment at Omaha University he was stationed in Alaska.

Betty Davis has been at OU for a long time. She attended school here and obtained a degree in journalism and home economics. In 1956 she worked for Robert McGranahan in the G. P. I. office as his assistant. In September of 1959 she was transferred to the job of alumni executive secretary. When the Student Center opened in the spring, assistant dean of women was added to her title.

In 1959 Betty, Miss Margaret Killian, head of the home economics department and four other girls spent most of the summer touring Europe. During this time they visited England, Ireland, the Netherlands, Austria, Italy, France, Switzerland and Germany. In addition she has done much traveling in the states.

She does not know exactly what to expect in Turkey but Betty remarked, "I'm looking forward to living with another people. It is sad that people tour a country and never really learn to appreciate it. For the next three years I intend to live like a Turk."

Although they are anxious to go, Mrs. Davis said for her husband and herself, "Both of us have been so pleased with our 'home' here at CU that although our future away from here sounds exciting, it's always nice to know you have fond memories that will bring you back some day."

Books Go on Block During Library Week

The annual National Library Week book sale will be held in the library during the week of April 21, according to library instructor R. D. Means.

Books which are duplicates or otherwise unneeded by the library will be placed in the lobby for bids by anyone interested.

Sealed bids with the number of the book included will be placed in a box provided for this purpose.

Complete instructions for book purchase will be posted in the library during the sale.

My uncle.

In this case, nepotism's a pretty good idea. And the best way to get it is through Air Force ROTC—because the Air Force prefers to commission its officers directly upon graduation. But if you couldn't fit AFROTC into your schedule, you can still apply for Air Force Officer Training School.

OTS offers college men and women an opportunity to assume great responsibility. When you complete the three-month course, you'll be commissioned a second lieutenant, and become a part of a vital aspect of our defense effort. As an Air Force officer, you'll be a leader on the Aerospace Team.

We welcome your application for OTS now—but the same may not be true next year. So if you're within 210 days of graduation, get full information from the Professor of Air Science,

5 Co-eds in 'Miss Omaha' Finals

Five Omaha University co-eds have been chosen as finalists in this year's Miss Omaha contest.

The five girls were selected as finalists in competition on April 6. There are five other girls who also made the finals.

In the finals the girls will be judged in three categories: swim suit, talent and evening gown competition.

The finals are to be held on the evening of April 21 at 7:30 in the Music Hall of the civic auditorium.

The top five finalists will be asked general questions on the stage the night of the competition. The questions that the girls are to be asked are unknown to them.

Sponsor for the contest is the Omaha Junior Chamber of Commerce.

OU Debaters End Season With Tie At Wyo. Tourney

The final event which University of Omaha debaters participated in this year was held April 5-7 at the University of Wyoming.

OU debaters John Cady and Stan Zwerling with a three-win, one-loss record, returned with a tie for second place in the cross-examination tournament which drew 14 schools. OU tied with Brigham Young University, while the University of Denver took first place.

Max Voigt and Arlene Grossman finished with a two-win, two-loss record. However, they had the highest team record in the tournament where they took 19 out of a possible 20 points.

At the same tournament, Stan Zwerling won an after dinner speaking contest, taking home a trophy for his efforts.

Orchesis Concert Today, Tomorrow

Orchesis, the modern dance honorary, will present a concert tonight and tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Administration Building Auditorium.

Members will present original dances to interpret poems and songs.

The entire group will provide the background to the Lord's Prayer. Senior member, Mary Aberseller, will dance the solo part.

During the intermission, the outstanding member will be announced. This person is selected by the other members.

The concert is free to students and the public.

Speech Dept. Is Accepting Entries For Intramurals

The University of Omaha speech department is taking entries for two upcoming intramural speech events.

Deadline for entering the persuasive speaking contest is Friday, April 26. Preliminaries are set for April 30-May 3, and the final will be held May 8 from noon till one in room 312 SC.

Interested students should contact Dennis Fus in room 315 Adm. to sign up for the contest.

On May 7 an intramural debate tournament will be held on the question, "Resolved: that advertising is a menace."

This contest is also open to all OU students with the exception of varsity debaters. Those interested should bring their debate partner to room 315 Adm. to sign up with Dr. Aldrich Paul.

The contest is scheduled for May 7, from 1:30 till 4:30 on the third floor of the Student Center. It will be a power match type of contest, matching winners against winners, and losers against losers.

Education Honorary To Award Honor

Kappa Delta Pi, the education honorary, will award a scholarship worth fifty dollars.

Applications are available in Dean Frank Gorman's office, room 200 Adm. The deadline for filing is Friday, April 26.

The recipient must be a junior or senior with a grade point of 2.8. The student must not already have a scholarship.

The student should be a member of a professional organization or departmental club in their major or minor and must be working on a teaching certificate.

The scholarship is for one semester and can be received only once.

Paul Peterson Named To Assist MU Dean

Paul V. Peterson, head of the OU journalism department, has been named administrative assistant to the dean of the school of journalism at the University of Minnesota.

He will assume the administrative duties at MU while on a year's leave of absence from Omaha U to complete his doctorate in journalism.

Peterson will teach during the first five weeks of OU summer school and plans to be on the Minnesota campus July 15.

No one has been named to head the journalism department in his absence. He is scheduled to return to OU in September, 1964.

Spanish Film Thursday In Conference Center

A Spanish film depicting the life of the composer-conductor Albeniz will be shown Thursday, April 25 at 8 p.m. in the Conference Center Auditorium.

In addition to the biographical aspects, the film presents the composer's music played by guitar, piano and full orchestra.

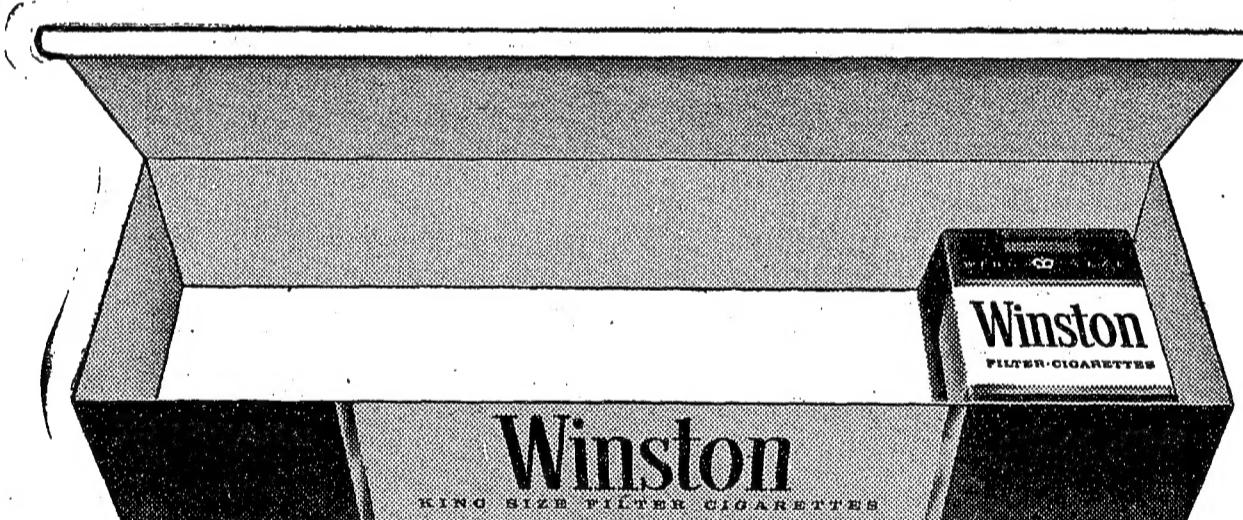

No ticket is needed for the film, which is sponsored by the College of Adult Education in conjunction with Dr. Cristobal Espinosa, head of the foreign language department. All students, faculty and staff are eligible to attend.

Waakiya Conference Lunch Held Thurs.

The bi-annual Waakiya Leadership Conference was held Thursday for all officers of campus organizations. The purpose of this program was to discuss the problems and duties of officers on campus.

About 85 attended discussion groups and a luncheon in the student center. Faculty members who led discussion groups were Mr. Hanna, Mr. Borg, Miss Minteer, Mrs. Titzell and Mr. Baker.

The O Club will present their Sweater Girl at a dance tonight in the Student Center Ballroom.

Candidates are: Ginny Bohaty, Alpha Gi Delta; Gail Browning, Zeta Tau Alpha; Nancy Diagostina, unaffiliated; Jan Meyers, Sigma Kappa, and Sue Weidenhamer, Chi Omega. The members of the O Club will elect the winner.

The dance will be held from 9 p.m. to 12 p.m. An activity card per couple is necessary for admission. Casual dress is appropriate.

David Gibson and Mel Masek are in charge of the dance. Entertainment will be offered during the intermission.

Bob Edson and his band will play.

Record Company Signs OU Combo

Johnny Ray Gomez and the U-neeks signed a three year contract April 2 with a leading national record company to record under the "Applause" label.

The group was scouted March 15 by a representative of the recording firm when they played at the Shamrock Shuffle. They will record two songs written by Johnny Ray, "Our Love Is Over," and "Lonely for Love."

Johnny, a sophomore music major, is active in the OU choir, the men's glee club, and is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Dan Talmon and OU students Mel Daley and Bill Wakefield are the other members of the group.

Trophies Awarded At Bowling Tourney

The first annual mixed doubles bowling tournament, sponsored by WRA, was held April 15 at the 40 Bowl.

First place trophies went to Mick Coren and Sherrie Ulfers with a 986 series; second place to Sam Morrison and Jan Seaman with a 920 series; and third place to Dave Richardson and Cheryle Bird with an 823 series.

Royer Is President Of Home Econ. Club

Jeanne Royer was elected as president of the Home Economics Club Wednesday afternoon at their regular meeting.

Liz Encell is the new vice-president; Jeri Klingforth, secretary; Yvonne Tesar, treasurer; Shirley Johnson, publicity chairman, and Candis Hall, historian.

Cheerleading Tryouts Are Slated April 30

How Ford economy won for Tiny Lund at Daytona

The Daytona 500 is one of America's toughest stock car events. It measures the toughness, stability, over-all performance and economy characteristics of the cars that take up its challenge—in a way that compresses years of driving punishment into 500 blazing miles. This year mechanical failures claimed over 50 per cent of the cars that entered. That's why Tiny Lund's victory in a Ford (with four other Fords right behind him) is a remarkable testimony to sheer engineering excellence.

Lund attributed his victory in part to the "missing pit stop." He made one less pit stop for fuel than his competition—proving that Ford economy can pay off in some fairly unlikely situations!

Economy and the winner of the Daytona 500 might sound like odd bedfellows at first. Yet economy is basic in every car we make . . . yes, even the Thunderbird is an economy car in its own way. Here's what we mean . . .

Economy is the measure of service and satisfaction the customer receives in relation to the price he pays for it. It does not mean, however, austerity . . . you have taught us this. Americans want—and we try hard to give them—cars that are comfortable to ride in, fun to drive, and powerful enough to get out of their own way. Not many Americans want to settle for basic transportation. You see this in our sales figures—more than half of our 1963 sales are coming from the top of each model line. We're selling convertibles, hardtops, the jazzy cars . . . the bucket-seat, high-performance, luxury editions are going like hot cakes.

Yet for all the fun that people are demanding in their cars, they still are very conscious of the element of thriftness—of avoiding unnecessary expense. This is the kind of economy we build into every car from the compact Falcon to the luxurious Thunderbird.

There's a special economy, for instance, in Ford's freedom from service. Every car and virtually every wagon can travel 36,000 miles before it needs a major chassis lubrication. Other routine services has been reduced, too—because these Fords are simply built better—and of better materials—than ever before.

In its own elegant way, even the Thunderbird gives you economy. It will travel 100,000 miles or 3 years before you have to lubricate the chassis. Thunderbirds have a way of becoming classics—as a look at their remarkably high resale value will quickly tell you. This, too, is economy.

Once, long ago—before the arrival of the Income Tax—a wealthy lady was asked to comment on the solid gold plumbing of her latest villa at Newport. "So thrifty, my dear," said the dowager . . . "it will never, ever rust."

Economy then, is many things to many people. Whatever economy means to you, you're pretty sure to find it in a Ford.

America's liveliest, most care-free cars!

Baseballers Record Up to 7-0; Will Face Tough Drake Team In Double-Header Tomorrow

Krehbiel . . . 3-0 mark tops pitchers.

by Dick Fletcher

Omaha University's baseball team continued on their winning ways Tuesday, taking both ends of a double-header from Morningside, 6 to 1, and 14 to 4, at Sioux City.

Larry Krehbiel and Ken McEwen both picked up their third victories while going the distance in their games against the Maroons. Krehbiel held Morningside to one run on four hits as Gary Gilmore led the hitting with two doubles and a single in the first game.

The Indians staked McEwen to a six run lead in the first inning of the nightcap on four hits, a walk, and two Morningside errors.

Freshman catcher Jim Dahir and third baseman Eddie Bryant led the Indians with five runs batted-in between them. Dahir belted the first OU homer of the year and Bryant delivered a bases-loaded double in the run-away.

In the season's opener the Indians downed Simpson 12 to 1 and 8 to 5 on Saturday, April 6, on the OU diamond.

Ken McEwen, who pitched the opener, made a brilliant collegiate debut. He gave up only one hit in five innings—a home-run to Simpson pitcher John Rhoades, and collected three hits the three trips to the plate. Frank Pecha, the lone veteran on the pitching staff finished the game with no-hit hurling in the last two frames.

Larry Krehbiel, and leftys John Bozak and Bill Drefs combined talents in the second game to limit Simpson to only four hits and one earned run.

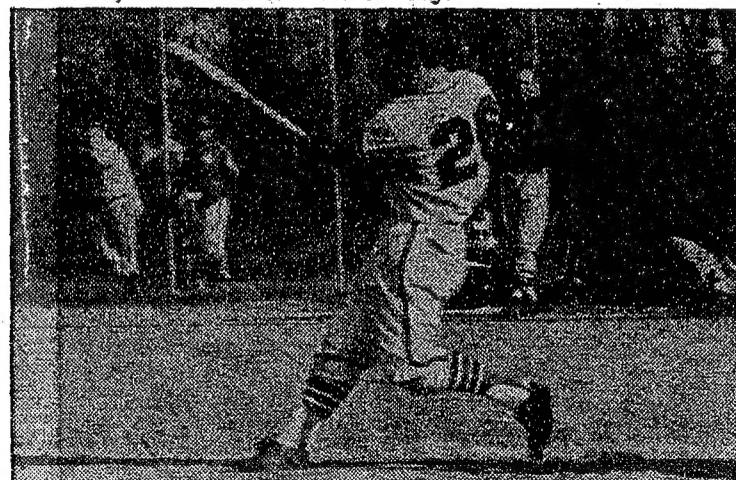

It was Pecha and McEwen again last Thursday. They pitched Omaha U to 5 to 2 and 6 to 1 victories over Northwest Missouri of Maryville at the OU field.

Pecha, while pitching the first game started the rally in the sixth inning that led to the win. His single was followed with singles by Gary Gilmore, Bill Wachtler, and Joe Neuberger, and Eddie Bryant's double for a total of five runs.

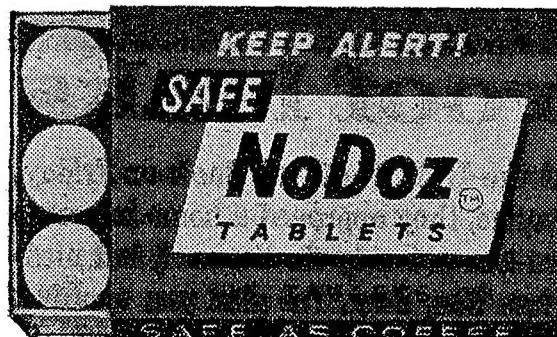

McEwen gave up nine hits but only one earned run in the second game as he was the only Indian that went hitless.

Bill Wachtler and Joe Neuberger helped Larry Krehbiel win his second start last Saturday in the Indians 9 to 0 shut-out over Hastings College.

Wachtler had two triples and Neuberger had a triple and a double to pace the 15-hit-attack on the Indian diamond. Ken Smith also had three hits for the day.

Backes drives double off screen against Hastings.

Sayers, Williams to Kansas Relays School Records Topple to Indians

by Mike Moran

Omaha University, enjoying one of its finest outdoor track seasons, will send ace sprinters Roger Sayers and Terry Williams in search for laurels at the Kansas Relays tomorrow at Lawrence.

Williams is a surprise entrant, having been invited personally by KU coach Bill Easton after William's record setting 9.5 100 at the Emporia Relays.

Williams will run in a special invitation 100 along with Sayers. Roger will also compete in the university division 100 as well.

Other Indians making the trip are Bruce Hunter for hop-step and jump competition and Mel Wade, who will join the other three in the college division 440 and 880 relay teams.

The KU carnival precedes the big one, the annual Drake Relays, coming next weekend at Des Moines. Roger Sayers says that the Drake meet is "the one I want most." OU will also send its swift relay teams to the college division events.

The latest OU effort resulted in three trophies at the Midland Relays on Wednesday. The Indian two mile relay team whacked 21 seconds off the old school record while taking the event in 8:01.

Other winners were the mile relay team in 3:27.4 and the 880 relay team in 1:28.4, both Midland records. Roger Sayers took the open 100 in 9.9 with little effort.

Outstanding efforts included Ray Hultman's 1:58.0 anchor leg in the two mile relay and Sayers' 20.8 clocking in an 880 leg.

The greatest attack on records in the history of Omaha University track began in earnest last Saturday at the Emporia Relays by a speedy, young OU team.

Freshman Terry Williams opened the onslaught with a record setting 9.5 clocking in the 100 yard dash prelims.

Williams later lost in the finals to Roger Sayers, who also was under the old record of 9.7 with his 9.6 time. Williams finished just a step behind.

The relay teams then took over and before the afternoon was over, every school record had been smashed but OU hadn't a single first place ribbon to show for their efforts.

The Indian mile relay team of Roger Sayers, Mel Wade, Ray Hultman and Terry Williams chopped four seconds off the old record set by a foursome of Bob Gerdeman, Larry Means, Bob Barnes and Bernie Lainson in the 1955 Sioux City Relays with a 3:16.3 clocking. The Omahans were shaded by Iowa University, with a 3:10, and Pittsburgh State.

Coach Lloyd Cardwell stated that "It wouldn't have made any difference if our handoffs had been perfect, we still lost a tough race after having that time."

The Indians 880 quartet of Sayers, Wade, Bruce Hunter and Williams chopped the old mark set by Lloyd Hunter, Merle Gee, Bob and Bill Barnes, at the 1956 Emporia Relays to 1:27.0 from 1:27.3. The Indians finished behind speedy Lincoln University in this one.

Last in line was the 440 foursome of Sayers, Hunter, Williams and Wade again. The quartet checked in with a 42.4 clocking only to see Lincoln's heels a second time. This broke the old 440 mark set at the Kansas Relays in 1962 by Sayers, Hunter, Jim Foster and Alan Roberts.

Rocket in Texas

Rocket Roger Sayers opened his "big league" sprint season on April 6th with an easy win in the open 100 yard dash in the Texas Relays.

The Rocket easily whipped a classy field on the muddy Austin track in 9.6. SMU's Alan Robertson finished a distant second.

Abilene Christian's Dennis Richardson, credited with a 9.3 century mark this year, failed to qualify and complained of a case of fatigue.

Kearney nightmare

On April 11th, the Indians entered the Kearney Relays at Kearney, Nebraska, with a better than even chance to sweep the relays.

Before the afternoon was over, the team wished they had stayed home.

Costly exchange errors and several bad spills cost the Indians both the 440 relay and the mile relay. Both Bruce Hunter and Roger Sayers took the falls and Hunter suffered a badly gashed arm. Sayers suffered abrasions on both legs but came out without serious injury.

The next test for the Indian squad is a dual meet with Simpson here on April 23, followed by the Drake Carnival on the 26th and 27th.

Yes, dear, I know the roof leaks

...but only when it rains. Now that you mention it, dear, it has been a rather wet season. Yes, I know the Fridleys have a new roof and that the Eddlemans just put in a recreation room. No, I don't suppose they are independently wealthy. But dear, just because... yes, dear. I do know that the roof leaks. That's what I've been trying to tell you, and maybe I can, now that you seem to have run out of breath. That's a little joke, dear. Yes, dear. I'm sorry, dear. But the thing is, I'm having the roof fixed on Monday. How? It's simple, dear. I stopped in at the U. S. National Bank on Friday, and in just a few minutes, they approved a home improvement loan so that we can not only fix the roof, but modernize the kitchen, too. Yes, dear. I'm glad you approve. It's so easy, I don't see why everyone doesn't take advantage of the U. S. National's home improvement loan service. Well, no, dear, I hadn't really thought about that. I guess we'll just have to let it leak if it rains before Monday.
